VOLUNTEERING

I actively volunteered with Design for Change, an initiative centered around a design thinking process that empowers youth through four transformative steps: Feel, Imagine, Do, and Share. Embracing this methodology, I played a pivotal role in guiding young individuals to navigate their projects while fostering essential skills such as creative thinking, empathy, and collaborative problem-solving. Through my involvement, I contributed to the cultivation of a supportive environment that empowers participants to enact positive change and develop vital life skills.
